Life Line

Life groups are small groups of people who meet regularly in homes to connect with others and to help each other take their next step in their faith journeys, whatever that step might be. We would love for everybody to be able to connect in a life group and experience the difference that intentional relationships can make in our lives. If you would like to explore life groups and see if one might fit with you, the best way to get started is by attending the Life Line event on March 28th. If you would like to register for Life Line, or if you have any questions about Life Line, email Brent Esau at besau@southridge.cc.

March 7 - For Kids

The Way to Love - How does a child of God demonstrate a way to love that is not self-centred? Love is never so self-centred that it fails to consider others. Love is always aware of how its choices affect those around, and cares more about them than it does itself. This kind of love needs to get past "looking out for number one" and giving greater priority to the lives of others. It's the kind of love that realizes that the choices we make can impact others.
